WEDDING Farmers May Be paid On Crops

Charmingly dressed in rose sheer and carrying a bouquet of roses, Bernice Viola, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rasinusson of Cereal, Alberta, became the bride of Burton Burger Cowan, eldest son of Mr. H. B. Cowan and the late Mrs. Cowan of Lonsdale, Alberta.

The wedding took place on June 5th, at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. Stapleton of Owen, officiating. After the ceremony, the bride's mother, served a delicious wedding supper to members of the two families.

A few neighbors were entertained that evening before the bride and groom left by train for Calgary and Banff, where they will spend a short honeymoon.

For travelling the bride wore a blue tailored suit with beige accessories. On their return Mr and Mrs Cowan will reside on the groom's farm south of Hanna.

All Chinook friends join in wishing the newly-weds a happy and prosperous married life.

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP)—R. C. Findlay, controller of the Canadian Wheat Board, today told the House of Commons agriculture committee that there is a good prospect farmers will receive payments on participation certificates on 1940-41 and the 1941-42 crops. J. G. Diefenbaker (priv. con. Lake Centre, asked whether he would go further and say the payments would be "substantial."

MANY FACTORS
George Melvor, chief commissioner of the board, said he did not know whether the payments would be substantial. Many factors enter into it. One factor was how long the board would have to carry the wheat, and another was what the price of wheat would be when sold.

Mr. Diefenbaker was asked what he would consider a substantial payment, and he said "five cents a bushel."

(When farmers are paid the fixed price for wheat they are given participating certificates.)

Mr. Melvor said there was no profit on the 1939-40 crop, but there is substantial indication the next two crops will yield a profit.

The accounts of each crop are kept separate, he said.

1943 HANNA RODEO

It was June the second in 1943.
We went to Hanna the Rodeo to see.
We left Chinook about ten thirty
It was cloudy and cold which made us rather surly
When we reached Hanna it was nearly noon,
We had to hurry, for it was starting soon,
The boys all rushed to the vendors door
And liquor they brought to keep in store,
We ate our dinner in the Liberty Cafe
Then out to the grounds we went to stay
A bunch o' the gang sat on somebody's truck
All freezing to death; watching these wild horses buck Jack Smart Cactus, George and Slim, put in; their entries; first prize for to win,
George was the first to be called from the gang,
And right after his calf he went with a bang,
Hefted it up in just 27 seconds
Too bad he didn't break all records
Poor Jack was a contestant in bare back riding
And he just left the chute when he started sliding
But never mind "Midget" 'til next time you go,
You'll stay right with him till the whistle does blow,
Then came Slim out of chute number four
On "Black Maria" who won second bare,
Five seconds had passed before he was thrown
I guess Slim thought he broke his collar bone,
Out of chute number two rode Cactus Pete,
On "Bunny Bay", who had fast feet,
Cactus was on till the whistle sounded
Then off to the grounds, how he bounded,
After all that excitement they went up town,
And Slim and Skinny brought a round,
Then they decided to go and eat
And it sure was difficult to find a seat.
But we all seemed to make out O. K.
I'm telling you folks, it was quite a day.
The whole river gang was always together
Not caring about farming; not even the weather
It was about ten, when we all went dancing, oh boy! I'll say it was some prancing
For the hall was packed from door to door
You couldnt hear anything except a roar,
At half past three we all headed east,
It was now that our good time had to cease
Daybreak was near before we reached home
And as somebody said "no more will I roam".

FAT IS AMMUNITION!

Fat and bone conservation begins at home and ends in the firing line

- DO YOU KNOW -

One pound of fat supplies enough glycerine to fire 150 bullets from a Bren gun.

Two pounds of fat will fire a burst of 20 cannon shells from a Spitfire or 10 anti-aircraft shells.

Bones produce fat and aircraft glue.

If we saved fat at the rate of one ounce per person per week this would mean 36,000,000 pounds per year, enough to produce 3,600,000 pounds of glycerine for explosives.

OUR FIGHTERS DEPEND ON YOU

"Every householder who delivers to a retail butcher, collector, or Salvage Committee, any rendered or unrendered fats or bones shall be entitled to receive from the person to whom they are delivered 4 cents per pound net weight for rendered fats, and 1 cent per pound for unrendered fats."

The above paragraph is a direct quotation from Order A-642 of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

"Rendered fat" means fat melted down and strained to remove solid matter. It includes drippings and strained pan grease resulting from the cooking of meat.

"Unrendered fat" means raw or partially cooked fat free from lean meat and bone, but not fully rendered.

"Bones" means raw or cooked bones of cattle, sheep and hogs.

NOTICE TO BUTCHERS, HOTELS, ETC.

You have been mailed a copy of Order A-642. This Order affects operators of hotels, restaurants and other establishments where meals are served. It is of immediate importance to butchers and slaughterers. If your copy has been lost, you can obtain another from the nearest office of The Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Seed Treatment

Two problems are important at this time of year:

1. Is seed treatment necessary?

2. What is the best treatment?

Unfortunately, direct answers to these questions are impossible. We can dispose of the second one fairly briefly, however. The following resolutions were agreed upon by plant pathologists from all three provinces at a meeting held in Orla, Alberta, last summer:

1. That the use of formaldehyde for the treatment of wheat and other hullless seeds be discouraged in every way possible.

2. That organic mercury dusts be recommended for the treatment of wheat, oats, barley and flax, and that treatment be at least 24 hours prior to sowing.

3. That if formaldehyde is used at all, it should be limited to the treatment of special lots of smutty hulled oats.

Now for question 2. Local authorities in Alberta advise treatment of all cereal seeds.

In Manitoba, farmers are advised to treat all flax and barley seed, using 1½ ounces of mercury dust per bushel for flax and ½ ounce for barley. Of course smutty wheat and oats must be treated; but, in the absence of smut, we lack official advice.

In Saskatchewan we are told that "if seed is not known to be free from smut it should be treated." The same authority, Dr. R. C. Russell continues: "Occasionally, however, when the seed coats are badly cracked or a high percentage of the seeds carry a fungus parasite, which causes common root-rot, treatment with a mercurial dust may be beneficial." (Italics ours.)

Protein For Chicks

Can Be Home-Produced If Commercial Feeds Not Available

Where prepared commercial feeds or concentrates are not available in sufficient quantities as chick starters, home mixed feeds should be used, state poultry officials of Dominion Department of Agriculture. There is grains and chicks can be successfully started on ground products, supplemented by home produced protein feeds.

Hard boiled infertile eggs mixed with bread crumbs or ground grains have given a start to many fine broods of chicks. Sour milk curd treated in the same way makes an excellent feed and even where the supply of milk is too limited to permit making curd, the milk may be used to moisten the grains, and a supply kept at hand for chicks to drink. Animal or fish oil may be added to the soup and solids may be mixed with ground grains to carry the chicks over the starter period, after which they can get along on grains and good green range.

When it is necessary to follow these methods, care should be taken to feed only what the chicks can eat in a short time; any feed left after half an hour's feeding should be removed. With this method of feeding, chicks should be fed four to six times daily. Chicks should be allowed outside where they can get all the green feed and sunshine possible. Early in the season, vitamin fish oil should be included in the ration.

PATTERN FOR DISASTER

BY J. B. RYAN

CHAPTER VI.

"GUILLERMO—William—Wilhelm." To Pancho wagged his unkempt head. "Don Felix could be a Nazi agent. Those Germans are usually fond of music."

Morgan nodded agreement. "In spite of the care I exercised, Guillermo knows or suspects that I am an American undercover agent. That is why he seized the opportunity to create an international crisis by murdering Col. Velasquez."

"But," Rosita touched the papers beside the lamp, "how did Don Felix know that Uncle Miguel would have these maps and papers on his person?"

"Those papers did not come from Col. Velasquez," smiled Morgan. "Espionage is a dirty business, senorita. Every nation knows the secrets of the other. Rest assured, if Guillermo is an agent of Germany, he has all the supposedly secret maps and plans of Argentina he needs."

"Yes, Lt. Morgan," said Esteban Velasquez. "International Secret Service is a dirty business, and you are a part of it. Your story is interesting, but—how do we know that you speak the truth?"

"Take me to Capt. Rojas. The fingerprints on the cocktail glass will have been photographed by this time. Rojas will tell you that I am guilty of Col. Velasquez's death. In fact, the real killer, Senor Verde, is probably under arrest now."

"Velasquez frowned. "We cannot take the chance. If those fingerprints should prove to be yours."

"Esteban," Rosita's dark eyes moved from Morgan to her brother. "We must give Lt. Morgan his chance. You—your uncle, to the Casa Grande. As Uncle Miguel's nephew, it would be natural for you to question Capt. Rojas. If the lieutenant's story is true, the police will tell you what the fingerprints revealed."

"Buena," approved Tito Pancho. "Rosita and I shall watch the American until you return."

"Very well," Esteban yielded. "But I insist that this fellow be tied up before I leave you alone with him. Pancho can still use a knife, I know, but his old joints are a bit stiffer than they used to be."

"It was Rosita who broke the long silence that ensued after Esteban had departed. "I am sorry, Senor Morgan," she apologized, "that you must remain tied in such an uncomfortable position."

"I do not mind," Morgan assured her pleasantly. "The fact that you have sent Esteban back to the Casa Grande indicates that, whether you know it or not, you are inclined to believe my story. I consider that the best piece of luck that has come my way since I have been in Buenos Aires."

His good humor was infectious. "What you say is correct, senor," Rosita admitted with a smile. "You are aware, I hope, that the great mass of Argentine people admire the Americans, and that they would countenance the things of which you seem to be guilty."

"My reason is more personal," he said. "There is nothing like individual friendships to create national animosity. I gather that you and your brother are a dancing team at the Cafe Blanco. After this mess is cleaned up, you'll find me in a ring-side seat every time you do your act for the rest of my stay."

"You will not be wasting your time, American," Tito Pancho declared positively. "The tango, as danced by Rosita and Esteban—" He paused. From the alley without came the sound of an auto and the motor roaring to such an extent that it seemed the car was stalled, now that the affair had been there came a screaming of brakes directly in front of the cottage. Tito Pancho tilted his head. "It is Esteban."

"No," Rosita rose quickly, to face the door somewhat apprehensively.

"Esteban has not had time—" "Then it is the friends of the American?" Tito Pancho's hand found his dagger once more. "It was a trick—to send Esteban away—"

BUT before the stevedore could reach Morgan with the knife, the door flew open and Esteban Velasquez dashed into the room, glowing only when he perceived that Rosita and Pancho were present, and that Morgan was still roped to the chair.

"Thank God!" he exclaimed. "What happened?" asked Rosita. "Didn't you go to the Casa Grande?"

"Yes," nodded Esteban. "And I drove like mad to get back here before this scoundrel could harm you. Sending me to the hotel was a subterfuge—nothing more."

He was glaring at Chris Morgan with a malevolence that puzzled the American. Something was wrong, if, as Esteban claimed, he had been to the Grand Hotel, he should have returned smilingly instead of with a swollen nose and a bloodshot eye. He saw Capt. Rojas, senor?" Morgan asked.

"I did!" Esteban nodded again. "What did you hope to gain by your murder, by your lies, if you did not make some effort to escape during my absence?"

"Esteban!" cried Rosita. "You mean—Lt. Morgan lied to us?" "Esteban nodded heavily. "He is twice a murderer. Not only did he kill Uncle Miguel, but he also killed Senor Diaz!"

Morgan shook his head. "You have been misinformed, senor. Diaz?" "Diaz is the fingerprint expert who took the glass from which you drank. Diaz has been shot and the glass smashed to fragments. Capt. Rojas knows you have left the Casa Grande, and the police are scouring the city for you."

"But—" For a moment Morgan was stumped. "But—Rojas should know I had no opportunity to kill Diaz! He and you can account for every moment of my time since the body of Colonel Velasquez was discovered."

ESTEBAN laughed in disbelief, his teeth a white line against his dark face. "You shall pay no more tricks on us, senor. The prints on that glass were not mine. Something I said probably caused him to smell a rat."

"If that is true, you are in a fortunate position. The fingerprints of Senor Verde are gone, and there remains only you to accuse of these crimes. Remember, if Rosita is placed under oath she will have to testify that she found Uncle Miguel's papers in your room."

The American glanced at the girl, who avoided his eyes. Morgan cleared his throat and said that the evidence against me, won't you take me on faith a while longer? If you will release me—" "Would you surrender to Rojas?" Esteban asked.

"No. I—you see, this Guillermo has stacked the cards against me. I would like a chance to prove my innocence, and would have to keep away from the authorities until that is done."

"But," Rosita objected. "If you fall into the hands of the police, the Velasquez honor will be threatened. That, above all, is what we must prevent."

"If I establish my innocence, it would follow naturally that the name of Colonel Velasquez will be cleared."

"No," Esteban said flatly. "You shall not be freed. We shall deal with you ourselves."

"You mean you would kill me?" "Perhaps," returned Esteban. "You showed no mercy to Uncle Miguel—nor to Senor Diaz."

"But, Esteban—Rosita's voice faltered, now that the affair had been self had instigated was nearing its climax. "We must make no mistake. If—If Senor Morgan is telling the truth—"

"LET me decide for you, my little ones," said Tito Pancho. "Burn those documents over that lamp and go away, both of you. I will deal with Americans with me." His harsh voice became more grim. "In the morning a corpse will be found floating in the river and this matter will be settled once and for all."

His voice died suddenly in a whisper, his mouth open on an unuttered word. Tito Pancho was staring beyond Morgan and Esteban. Then with a muffled snarl, the grizzled man was on his feet, grabbing for the knife he had placed on the table. "Behind you, Esteban!" he cried. "Quickly!"

The bark of a pistol crashed through the room and the lifting knife was kicked out of the hand of Pancho. Morgan's head jerked toward the door. The door had been opened noisily, and in the room stood three men: Guillermo, Verde and De Nova.

"Drop that gun, Senor Velasquez," said the musician, "lest I send a bullet through your head as I did that of your knife-throwing friend."

Esteban dropped the automatic to the floor. De Nova moved closer and, with his foot, slid the gun toward Verde to be picked up. The fat man backed toward the wall where he and De Nova could guard the door while Guillermo was in the centre of the room.

Guillermo glanced without sympathy at Tito Pancho nursing his blood-smeared right hand, then smiled at Esteban Velasquez. "We followed you from the Casa Grande, senor. You were in such haste to get away from Capt. Rojas that I felt you would lead us to Lt. Morgan."

He stepped to the table and fingered the documents. "Ah, perfect! Perfect!" he murmured. "When Capt. Rojas arrives he will find all the evidence he needs—the maps and plans, the murderer and his three accomplices."

"Accomplices?" echoed Esteban. "You mean—"

Guillermo shrugged ironically. "What else can be believed, senor, but that the ungrateful nephew and niece of Col. Velasquez schemed with this Yankee? You did not inform the police that you were sheltering him."

But—you can see that he is our prisoner."

"No, senor." Don Felix shook his head. "Allow me to correct you. It is we who had to the Morgan to that chair after we surprised the four of you." He peered over his shoulder. "De Nova go to the nearest phone and call Capt. Rojas. Inform him that we have captured Morgan."

HOME SERVICE

LEARN THE ART OF WEAVING IN YOUR HOME

Weaving Is Fun

In wartime there are shortages especially in the manufacture of good fabrics, so why don't you learn how to weave and make your own materials.

You'll also be helping the war effort by making your own materials. You'll also be helping the war effort by making your own materials. You'll also be helping the war effort by making your own materials.

Weaving is really not difficult to learn, either. In fact, it is quite enjoyable because it is rhythmic and it gives the creative urge a whirl.

Human weaving can be as intricate and delicate as a spider's or as simple and sturdy as a beaver's. You can use equipment as complex as a textile mill or as simple as a handloom.

Our 25-page booklet gives you all the necessary information for weaving various materials from rugs to purses and what materials to buy for each.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "How to Weave Useful Novelties" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg News-Printer, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Noon-Time Concerts

Crowds Listen To British Regiment Bands In Trafalgar Square

Seated on top of a brick and concrete surface air raid shelter in Trafalgar square, bands from crack British regiments, including the guards, play noon-time concerts for anyone who wants to stop and listen.

The concerts are one of the ways in which British attempts to relieve the drabness of war for people who can no longer motor for pleasure, go to the seaside to lie on a beach of swim in the summer, or to dozens of things they did before 1939.

The people who throng the square at noon, leaning against the concrete railings or sitting on the base of Nelson's column, to listen to the concerts include armies, sailors and soldiers on leave, women from the services and civilians with some time to spare while they are out of their offices for lunch.

The most noticeable thing about them is that they listen with attention and generally prefer soft music to the sprightlier pieces. The bandmaster has a perfect way of gauging his audience's reaction by the number of people who drift away after each piece. The audiences rarely include more than a few officers.

Lucky For People

Strike In Ulster Stopped Egg Shipments For Some Time

There was a real field day when a strike stopped egg shipments from Ulster to Britain. There was such a vast accumulation of eggs that British Food Ministry officials decided to release some for immediate consumption rather than let them go stale. Most people are lucky if they get an egg a month but Belfast dealers were allowed to exceed the ration and thousands went home with a dozen eggs—in some cases grocers allocated six eggs per person.

YOU MUST MAKE A 1942 INCOME TAX RETURN NOT LATER THAN JUNE 30TH

...IF SINGLE and your net income exceeded $6600
...IF MARRIED and your net income exceeded $12000

For incomes not over $3000 get two (2) copies of simplified Form T. 1 Special.
For incomes over $3000 get three (3) copies of Form T. 1 General.

Income Tax dollars are not ordinary dollars... they are Victory dollars... necessary dollars to help win the war. Income Tax is fair to all. All are taxed in proportion to their ability to pay.

Under the new system introduced this year, Income Tax is now on a pay-as-you-earn basis. The reduction of the 1942 Tax made this possible.

In most cases the larger part of the reduced tax will have been paid by the 1942 tax deductions or instalment payments. One-third of any balance must be paid by 30th June and the remainder on or before 31st December, 1943.

You must file an Income Tax return and pay any balance to establish your right, after the war, to the refund of the Savings Portion of your tax.

If you are a salary or a wage earner, your employer can probably supply you with Income Tax Forms—otherwise, they are available at your local Post Office or the office of your District Inspector of Income Tax.

Over 2,000,000 Canadians will be filing returns and paying taxes... avoid the last minute rush. If you wait, illness or other unforeseen circumstances may prevent you from getting your return in on time. Avoid penalties by sending in your return NOW!

FARMERS

You must attach to your return on Form T. 1 Special or Form T. 1 General either a statement of your gross income and expenses, or completed Farmers T. 1 Supplemental. The T. 1 Supplemental itemizes all forms of farm receipts and expenses, and is a guide for determining your actual net income. Forms may be secured from your local Post Office or District Inspector of Income Tax.

To help you fill out your Income Tax forms a booklet ("Farmers' Income Tax Guide, 1942") has been prepared to cover the special conditions which apply to farm operations. It can be obtained free on request from your District Inspector. If you don't know his address, just mail your letter to "District Inspector of Dominion Income Tax."

WHEAT STEM SAWFLY

Just one year ago, we emphasized the sawfly threat. We directed the attention of farmers to an excellent description of control methods,
Special Pamphlet No. 59, and placed a copy in all line country elevators.
Let us remember two facts.
Firstly, the sawfly is still a threat and, secondly, it can be controlled.
The results of research and experimentation are, year by year, leading to more effective control methods.
Last year, Dr. K. M. King and Dr. C. W. Farstad, through the co-operation of farmers, conducted a series of 18 sawfly trap demonstrations. The results are full of meaning to all wheat farmers in sawfly areas. We quote from the report:
"In every district except one, well-planned sawfly traps gave very worthwhile control in 1942... They show clearly that good sawfly traps can be highly effective in Saskatchewan."

"In the trapped fields, as an average, less than 2 rods of the margin were sufficiently infested... to result in severe losses of heads due to fallen stems. Comparable untrapped wheat was severely infested to more than 11 rods from the margin, on the average, of the districts represented in this study."
"It is estimated that, on the average, at least ten times as many heads of wheat were lost in the untrapped fields than in the comparable trapped ones."

Write to Dominion Entomological
Laboratory at Lethbridge, Saskatoon or Brandon for Special Pamphlet No. 59 and other information, and ask your local line elevator agent for a copy of "The Wheat
Stem Sawfly."
